LOOTING PREVENTED AT DUBLIN PORT.

Last evening a special force of police was brought to the North Wall, and placed on duty at the Spencer Dock premises and stores of the Midland Great Western Railway Company. This provision was rendered necessary, it appeared, by the fact that looters had commenced helping themselves to such supplies as they could lay hands upon. At both sides of the river pilfering of coal was reported to have taken place.

Weak and Wasted Baby.

Weighed only 21 lbs. when Two Years Old. Made Healthy and Bonny by Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

Mrs. Burgess, 41 Phythian street, St. Helen's, says:—"My little Edith was born with a peculiar swelling at the bottom of her back and had to have an operation. After that she was always weak and puny and seemed to get thinner every day. She did not eat well but just lay about, a frail little thing with no spirit in her. At two years old she only weighed 21 pounds, and hadn't even begun to walk. I tried everything I could think of, and had good medical advice for poor little Edie, but it was no use. She just wasted away to a little skeleton, and what flesh there was on her poor little bones was quite soft and flabby. Then a friend advised me to give her Dr. Cassell's Tablets. I did, and it was really astonishing how they helped her. She picked up wonderfully and quite soon was eating better than ever she had done. Then she began to put on flesh and become quite active. Now she is running about over so well and strong. I had her weighed not long ago —she is just 4 years and 9 months now—and she turned the scale at three stone."

SPORTING NEWS.

NEWMARKET MEETING—YESTERDAY.

A ROYAL VICTORY.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

Racing at Newmarket yesterday was held under boisterous weather conditions, and the attendance showed a considerable increase. The improvement also extended to the sport, which was crowned with a stylish victory on the part of Madame Vargaud's Polisson, which realised 2,150 guineas at the yearlings' sale in autumn. The dark Polymelus made an auspicious debut in winning the Caldron Prodisce Stakes in the manner of a high-class three-year-old, and he will doubtless be heard of again. Plymouth Rock made an example of the opposition for the Wood Ditton Stakes, and he may, after all, justify his purchase last year by Sir J. Buchanan at the big price of 5,000 gns. Kentish Cob outstayed his ten rivals for the Babraham Plate in an exceedingly close finish of heads, and this good-looking son of Sunstar should secure other long-distance prizes for Malden. His Majesty was represented in the Granby Plate by a racing-like colt named John Green, who won with more in hand than the two lengths victory might imply. Although Clorodin was never headed in her race for the Severals Plate, she had to put all in to stall off Caligula from the distance. Minifeat won the Apprentices' Handicap from end to end. CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

NEWMARKET, WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Backers have no more reason to congratulate themselves than on the opening day, although as a rule they were more often near the mark. A finer finish than that of Joe Childs on Kentish Cob for the Babraham Plate cannot be imagined. I learn that unless Manton satisfies Taylor in the race for the Craven Stakes to-morrow, Childs will be released to ride Lacrosse in the Guineas, a fortnight hence. A good field, numerically, is expected to contest the "Craven." I think the issue rests between Prince Galahad, Silvera, and Manton, although at the time of writing, I am without advice that Silvera has been despatched from Weyhill. As matters stand, I must leave the issue to

with a slight preference for the "Prince." Manton should at least be placed. For the minor races, my selections are:—

Flying Handicap—King Sol.

Two Years' Plate (Div. 1)—Bucket or Port Royal.

Two Years' Plate (Div. 2)—Cranford colt.

Three Year Handicap—Mount Royal; if absent, Rapiere.

April Plate—Lambton's selected.

HUNTING.

THE MEATH HOUNDS.

FINISH OF THE SEASON.

The season of 1919-20, under the Mastership of Brigadier-General Martin Powell, who carried the horn throughout, concluded on Saturday with the meet at Dunsany Castle. Hounds hunted on 90 days, during which they killed 50 brace of foxes, and marked to ground 53½ brace. This includes cub-hunting. There were only three days stopped by frost.

Scent was only moderate during the cub-hunting and the earlier weeks of the regular season, but from the first week in December and afterwards, notably in February and March, it improved considerably. There were some very fine runs, one, from Ballinlough to Jenkstown (two hours), making a point of 11½ miles, but it was almost altogether a hound hunt. The gorse covert of Pelhistown took pride of place, with four first-rate straight hunts, then coming Meadstown, with three, over practically the same line, a stiff one. Another deserving of notice came from Rathnally gorse, whilst the run from Bolltown to Loughcrew in February (1 hour and 25 minutes) sufficed for the day, as did another very fine gallop from Leslie's gorse to Townley Hall. On the whole, it was probably the best season since the record one in the late nineties. The country, too, owing to the favourable winter and spring, rode right well.

On Saturday, when there was a large field, the Master began with the Dunsany railway wood, hounds hunting a fox over the road to that bordering Lord Dunsany's cricket ground, and into the plantation of Athrohan, from which they ran back to the railway wood to ground. Nothing else of note came till Mr. Andrew Watt's covert (Brady's wood) at Dowestown was drawn, when the pack hunted through the covert and round by the house to the vicinity of Bellfister Bridge, scent failing. Found next in the plantation at Dowestown Cross-roads, ran to the Bellister Kennel Wood, the fox then crossing the Boyne to Clinton's Wood, and over the two roads into Ardsallagh. He went on near Mr. A. McCann's house, and back to Mr. Foley's farm and Clinton's Wood, again crossing the Boyne to Bellister, where he beat hounds after a good hunt, which finished the day and season.

SEWELL'S PUNCHESTOWN SALES.

As was announced yesterday, the dates of Messrs. Sewell's Punchestown Sales have been changed to to-morrow and Saturday. The sales will commence each morning at 10.15 and conclude at about 1 o'clock, thus allowing ample time for those attending the Repository to get to Leopardstown and Phoenix Park Races. The lots to be submitted comprise a large number of high-class hunters, in addition to bloodstock, and these on the look out for the right stamp of horse should experience no difficulty in fulfilling their requirements.

INCOME TAX ON STALLIONS' FEES.

At the request of the Irish Horsebreeders' Owners and Trainers' Association, Captain Herbert Dixon, M.P., opened up negotiations with the Chancellor of the Exchequer with a view to the reception by him of a deputation from that body. The deputation was charged with a mission to represent to the Chancellor the disastrous effect which the taxation of the profits arising from stallion fees would have on the Irish horsebreeding industry, but the Chancellor has declined to receive the deputation. Writing to Captain Dixon, Mr. Stanley Baldwin said—"I have inquired into the case put forward by the Irish Horsebreeders' Owners and Trainers' Association, and I find that horsebreeders, in being asked to pay income tax under Schedule D in respect of their profits and gains, are in the same position as other traders. The question, but are, in common with the rest of the community, being called upon to pay income tax on no more than the amount of their profits and gains computed in accordance with the provision of

The Irish Times.
THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1920.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Cecil Harmsworth moved the second reading of the Bill for the ratification of the Peace Treaties with Austria and Bulgaria. Mr. Asquith criticised both Treaties. He declared that they broke up Austria, which formerly had been an economic unit; that they tended to Balkanise Central Europe; and that the reparation provisions should be reviewed and modified.

Mr. Bonar Law announced in the House of Commons yesterday that the Irish Government had made concessions in regard to the treatment of prisoners. In future persons detained by order of the Competent Military Authority—persons arrested on suspicion and against whom no charge has been made—are to receive "ameliorative treatment." Mr. Law could not define "ameliorative treatment," but he assured the House that such persons would receive "quite different" treatment from that given to convicted prisoners.

As a result of an interview between Lord French and the Lord Mayor of Dublin sixty-six of the Mountjoy hunger-strikers have been released on parole, and twenty-four others will be released to-day. The general strike has been officially declared off from this morning.

Constable Kells, of the Dublin Metropolitan Police, was shot dead yesterday in Dublin within a short distance of his house in Pleasants street while going to report for duty.

Speaking yesterday to a meeting of railwaymen in Dublin on the general strike in Ireland, Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., said that, according to the laws of every civilised country, no man should have a charge made against him unless he had an opportunity of saying whether he was guilty or innocent. There was no excuse or justification for condemning people without trial. The men who at this moment were suffering and risking their all were guided by their conscience. That would always be the true test of sincerity. He wanted to do all that he could to vindicate the action of the men who were suffering. The action of those who had struck work was not for material gain, but for liberty.

Several persons were injured in Derry last night following an attack on police and military by a large crowd. The police were subjected to a fierce fusillade of stones and broken spouting, and several bayonet charges took place before the mob was ultimately dispersed.

In London yesterday the Stock Markets were adversely affected by the sharp advance in Treasury bill rates to 6¼ per cent. for both three months and "yearlies." There was a consequent rise in discount rates, pending to-day's Bank of England announcement. Loan money was obtainable at 4 per cent. and down to 2 per cent. Dublin Stock Exchange was closed.

The Government and Ireland.

On Tuesday Mr. Bonar Law announced the Government's definite refusal to release the hunger-strikers in Mountjoy Prison. Yesterday evening sixty-six of these men were removed to public hospitals, and the remainder will be removed to-day. This sudden collapse from Rhadamanthine sternness is slightly ridiculous, and will weaken the Government's authority on both sides of the Irish Sea. It will be claimed as a great triumph by Sinn Fein and the Irish Labour Party; on the strength of it the latter already assumes the right to control the export of Irish food-stuffs to Great Britain. The Government had allowed itself, however, to get into a position in which it was confronted with a choice of two evils. If any of the prisoners had died, the state of Ireland, which is bad to-day, would have become far worse. Nationalist Ireland had worked itself into such a passion over the sufferings of the prisoners that a single death in Mountjoy might have provoked an exceedingly serious outburst of revenge and lawlessness. This, at any rate, has been averted, and the gain, combined with the breathing-space which it gives to new authority at Dublin Castle, may be accepted as justification for a "climb down" which in any other circumstances must have been wholly ignominious. The prisoners have been released on parole, and the Irish Government has made certain concessions which, if they are acted in a reasonable spirit, should prevent a recurrence of this particular brand of trouble. In future persons who have been arrested on suspicion and against whom no definite charge has been made will receive the "ameliorative treatment" that was the goal of the hunger-strike. We find no fault with this concession. In the present state of Ireland arrests and detention under suspicion have been made necessary by the national conspiracy to withhold evidence of guilt. The fact remains, however, that prolonged detention without trial, though sanctioned by the Defence of the Realm Act, is out of harmony with the spirit of British law. Here, therefore, is a fair occasion for the use of the velvet glove upon the hand of steel.

No doubt, the Government's volte face was due in part to a belated recognition of the fact that a new outbreak of popular passion in Ireland must have destroyed the last chances of its proposed "settlement." We have recommended clemency for a different and, as we think, a more important reason. We felt that the new Chief Secretary and the new Commander of the Forces ought not to be handicapped by a crisis which was not of their making. It would have been a grave misfortune if Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Nevil Macready had found themselves confronted with an Ireland not merely lawless, but driven almost to madness by the exaltation of a series of martyrdoms in Mountjoy. For the moment, at least, that danger has been averted, and the new officials will be required to tackle no worse problems than those of which they must have had ample warning. Alleviated even thus, their task is sufficiently formidable to tax all their gifts of courage and statesmanship. As we said yesterday, it is the task not of maintaining law, but of restoring it—not of curing a sick patient, but of resurrecting him from the dead. Sir Nevil Macready, to whom, for Ireland's sake and his own, we wish good fortune and all success, looks out to-day upon a land which, for all material purposes, has been robbed of the King's law and retains no semblance of public order. It will be his duty to restore not only the moral, but the visible, sanctions of the law in large areas where the King's uniform has ceased to have any other significance than that of a target. He must re-occupy territory that virtually has been captured from the Crown. He must grapple with a baleful, and hitherto dreadfully successful, conspiracy of murder. Yesterday another police constable was assassinated in the streets of Dublin. Yesterday also, in full daylight, armed men entered and destroyed the Inland Revenue Office at Dundalk. These are symptoms not of mere disorder, but of anarchy. They are revolution's bold and resolute challenge to the last strongholds of the King's authority in Ireland.

The opening of the regime of Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Nevil Macready is associated with an act of clemency. We may hope that events will prove that it is the clemency of strength, not of weakness. We hope, too, that, in this moment of national relief after a very sore strain, all the thoughtful and moderate elements in the Irish community will ponder their duty to the Government, to their country, and to themselves. The plain facts are these: Ireland is falling rapidly into conditions which must make existence intolerable for all her sons, since anarchy is no respecter of persons. The last securities of life and property are disappearing. The foundations of industry are threatened. A wave of Bolshevism, before which Sinn Fein itself stands appalled, menaces, with many other institutions, our whole system of land tenure—the hard achievement of years of Parliamentary struggle. It is not a political question at all: the question is whether the Ireland of the near future is to be habitable or uninhabitable for any peace-loving Irishman of any party. The task of making the country habitable and of keeping it so is the Government's task; but the Government is fighting the people's fight; its most important agents are Irishmen as brave and patriotic as any in the land; and its sole aim is this country's freedom and prosperity within the Empire. The Government cannot win its fight—or, at the best, can hope only for a tardy and most costly victory—without the sympathy and support of the Irish people. That support is due to it, on every ground of public and private interest, from men and women of all Irish parties. Murder and outrage are equally hateful to all Irishmen, whether they call themselves Unionists or Sinn Feiners, who love their country's honour and their own peace. The more support the Government gets from popular opinion, the less need or excuse it will have for measures that infringe popular liberty. This moment of calm after storm can be made very fruitful of blessing for Ireland if our people will employ it as an interlude for thought upon their duty and their danger.

French Finance.

The debate on new taxes which is being held at present in the French Chamber is of the highest importance. The Government, very conservative in financial matters, is averse from innovation, while the Socialist school, represented by M. Vincent Auriol, favours new taxation and an approximation to British methods. He wants to get as much as possible out of income tax, and is of opinion that at least £160,000,000 might be raised from this source. French finance has reached a state which nothing but drastic methods can remedy. The cost of living in the country is enormous, and abroad the value of the franc has fallen to an absurd degree. On Tuesday it was quoted at the rate of 68.25 to the pound sterling. Of course, this condition of affairs cannot be remedied by taxation alone. Mr. Balfour said recently that, while Europe had been ruined, the standard of living everywhere had been raised. Apparently he was right; really he was wrong. Much of the financial disorder on the Continent of Europe can be traced to this fallacy. People are living in a fool's paradise. They have more money, it is true, and spend it more lavishly than before the war; but how? A man who in pre-war days was very glad to occupy a seat in "the gods" at a theatrical performance now is not satisfied with anything less "select" than the dress circle. Then, however, he got butter on his bread; now he gets margarine. The standard of living has not been raised, and France will discover to her cost that, unless she determines to tax herself to her utmost capacity, her standard will continue to decrease. Adequate taxation is not a panacea. It is the first step towards restoration of peace conditions. The next step is hard work, and in this respect, too, France needs to change her methods. Her exports cannot reach their former volume until world conditions of transport and production improve; but, as in the case of Great Britain, they can be greatly increased if the French workers choose to put their backs into their task. To trust to German indemnities is to lean upon a broken reed. France's salvation, financial as well as economic, must be achieved by her own efforts. Paris, like London and Rome, must "scorn delights and live laborious days."

Ocean Freights.

Ocean transport charges continue to advance. Following the increases on the Atlantic trade route, it is announced that the cost of conveying goods to and from South Africa will be raised by ten shillings per ton. Shipping companies admit that the recent arrangement between the Government and the colliery companies concerning maximum prices for bunker coal operates in their favour, but say that they have made due allowance for any benefit that accrues. The prices agreed upon are 75s. per ton for unscreened bunker coal and 80s. per ton for screened bunkers. These prices are "f.o.b." at the coal port or colliery, and, therefore do not represent the actual cost of coal to the shipping companies. Every ship that requires a supply of Welsh coal cannot go to Newport or Cardiff, and the cost of bunkering a vessel at Southampton or London works out at about 105s. per ton. Even at this figure, however, bunker coal is considerably cheaper than it was before the arrangement came into force. How, then, can steamship owners justify higher freights? The case of the South African Conference lines supplies the answer. About a year ago the rates for this trade route were settled with the merchants. At that time the price of fuel at the ports of departure was approximately 60s. per ton. Then it began to increase rapidly. Two or three months ago the situation became acute, but action was deferred when it became known that the Government had entered into negotiations with the colliery-owners. But for the fixing of maximum prices it is possible that the increase in South African freights would have been 30s. instead of ten shillings.

Controlled Emigration.

For five years the stream of emigration ceased to flow, but it is certain that, when the shipping problem has been solved and transport charges have regained a reasonable level, thousands of persons will decide to leave our shores. Will the Government make any effort to conserve our Imperial man-power? The Royal Colonial Institute thinks that measures to achieve that end should be adopted without delay. At a meeting on Tuesday night Mr. Christopher Turnor pointed out that our white population is small compared with the size of the Empire, and that we cannot afford to lose citizens through emigration to foreign countries. Vast areas require to be peopled, and it has become an urgent necessity to develop the Empire's resources, particularly in the production of food supplies. He suggested that the Government should take the initiative in the creation of an Imperial policy for the direction of emigration. The first step should be the appointment of a central authority, which would possess the necessary powers to negotiate with the overseas Governments, the shipping companies, and the various private enterprises interested in the question. Mr. Turnor's main principles are—(1) Migration should be guided in the first instance to that part of the Empire where, from the strategic point of view, population is most needed; and (2) migrants should be settled in districts where, under properly organised conditions, they would become successful producers of food in the shortest possible time.

COURT CIRCULAR.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN.
WEDNESDAY.

The Dowager Countess of Airlie left the Lodge to-day.

General and Mrs. Ready had the honour of being invited to dine with His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant at the Viceregal Lodge this evening.

TRIBUTES TO THE LATE PRIMATE.

At a meeting of the Board of Christ Church Cathedral, held yesterday, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—The Board of Christ Church Cathedral have heard with sorrow of the death of the Most Reverend John Baptist Crozier, Primate of All Ireland. The Church of Ireland has lost in him a chief pastor, and Ireland a patriotic son, whose many rare gifts secured for him the admiration and affection of his fellow-Churchmen and fellow-countrymen. The Board sympathise deeply and respectfully with Mrs. Crozier and the other members of his Grace's family in their bereavement.

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL.
At Evensong to-day the Service in St. Patrick's Cathedral will be of a memorial nature, as it is the day on which will be held the funeral of the Primate.

GOVERNOR OF BAHAMA ISLANDS.
The King has approved the appointment of Major H. E. S. Cordeaux, Governor of St. Helena, to be Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Bahama Islands, in succession to Sir W. L. Allardyce, appointed Governor of Tasmania.

THE PREMIER'S VISIT TO SAN REMO.
Mr. Lloyd George has been in wireless communication with his secretariat at Downing street. He reached Gibraltar yesterday morning, and will disembark at Marseilles to-day, making the remainder of the journey to San Remo overland.
M. Millerand will, says a Reuter's telegram, leave Paris for San Remo on Friday evening accompanied by Marshal Foch, whose presence at San Remo is necessary for the discussion of military questions regarding Germany and Turkey. M. Berthelot will also accompany M. Millerand.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Apart from politics, everyone will be glad to see Dr. Macnamara back in the House of Commons, of which he is one of the most popular members. But no party has much to congratulate itself upon in the result of the elections either at Camberwell or Basingstoke. The Coalition holds its seats, but in each case by a minority vote. Labour, in the person of Miss Susan Lawrence, has done fairly well at Camberwell, but is relatively worse off at Basingstoke than it was at the general election. As for the "Wee Frees," they had a very good candidate in Sir Harry Verney at Basingstoke, but could not capture the seat, while at Camberwell Mr. Carroll was at the bottom of the poll, and was supported by barely a tenth of the electorate. There will be glum faces at the Asquith banquet to-night.

As usual at this time of year, the papers are full of Budget forecasts, and, as usual, I expect most of them will turn out to be wrong. "Sensational" changes in the coming Budget are the less likely because it now seems to be assured that this year there will have to be two Budgets. The report of the Income Tax Commission was received too late for the Chancellor and his advisers to have time fully to digest its recommendations, some of which, as I have already pointed out, require a good deal of consideration before they are adopted. Then, the tax on war wealth, on which the Treasury seems to have set its heart, cannot be set up until the present Committee has reported. It is assumed, therefore, that Mr. Chamberlain will content himself with some minor Adjustments on Monday, and will reserve his more grandiose proposals till the autumn. If we may judge by the way in which the money is coming into the Exchequer, he need not have any particular anxiety as to meeting his current expenditure. The arrears of the excess profits tax and the sales of surplus stores continue to yield large sums, with the result that last week, in spite of a payment out of twenty-five millions for interest on war debt, expenditure was more than covered by income, and the floating liability of the State was still further reduced.

The news of the release of the hunger-strikers from Mountjoy Jail, Dublin, produced some surprise in the House of Commons after Mr. Bonar Law's stern declaration on Tuesday night that there could be no alteration in the Government's policy towards such prisoners. It will be seen, however, that the release was only granted on parole. The persons released are, therefore, pledged through themselves or their friends to return on conviction when they are certified to be in a condition to do so. Their cases are substantially on all fours with that of Alderman O'Brien, who was allowed to go to a nursing home after reducing himself to a very weak condition by hunger-striking at Wormwood Scrubbs. In these circumstances Ministers claim that there has been no inconsistency in the action of the Government over the matter, and satisfaction is expressed on the Treasury Bench over the finding of a way out of a position exceedingly uncomfortable for both the temporarily released persons and their jailers.

There are not wanting among the supporters of the Government critics of the concessions, who maintain that they will simply lead to demands for more. As a matter of fact, more are already being pressed for. Especially it is being urged by Nationalist members and others that a differentiation ought to be made, among convicted prisoners, between those who may be reckoned political offenders and the ordinary criminals—the difference, of course, to be much in favour of the former. It is, again, urged that inquiry into this subject should be made by an Advisory Committee sitting in secret, so that there need be little fear of danger to witnesses giving evidence.

A number of members of Parliament has accepted an invitation to meet at the House of Commons to-morrow a deputation of representative Southern Irish Unionists, and to hear from them a statement as to the condition of Ireland. The message that the deputation brings is that that condition is bad beyond description, and that some steps must be taken immediately to produce improvement if there is not to be a calamity. It is particularly to be urged that whatever steps are decided upon should be steadily persisted in.

Colonel Walter Guinness is proposing to move a number of amendments in Committee on the Home Rule Bill. By the first of these, true to his objection to partition, he would set up a single Second Chamber for the whole of Ireland, in lieu of the Council of Ireland provided for in the Bill. In another instance he seeks to strengthen, as far as may be, the safeguards for minorities, while in the domain of finance he has a scheme for reserving all income tax raised in Ireland to the Parliament and Government of that country up to the level of similar taxation in Great Britain. Beyond such level presumably it would become liable to contribute to Imperial expenditure.

The House of Commons was very dull and quiet during the question hour. Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy was absent, with the result that his questions were put by other members of the little party surrounding him. The first reply to one of his questions was that there will be no naval manœuvres this year. Colonel Wedgwood wanted to know whether all the black troops had been removed from the newly occupied areas of Germany. Mr. Harmsworth said that it was no business of ours.

Mr. Hogge grew quite dictatorial over a question answered by Mr. Bonar Law regarding the appointment of Sir Laming Worthington Evans as Minister without portfolio. He wanted precedents, salary, and vote for discussion, also an assurance that the post would not be continued when war conditions were a thing of the past. Mr. Bonar Law gave him all the points he wanted to know, and added that Ministers were very hard worked, and glad to have the assistance of a Minister in the position of Sir Laming Worthington Evans.

Lord Robert Cecil entered the House of Commons at three o'clock this afternoon, and took his usual seat behind the Government Bench. Immediately he arrived Mr. J. McVeagh crossed the floor to pay him a visit. The case of the Mountjoy prisoners was evidently under discussion, for when the question hour was over Mr. T. P. O'Connor rose to ask whether the Government had a statement to make on the prisoners. Lord Robert Cecil gave him support by getting the Leader of the House to cross his "t's" and dot his "i's." Mr. Bonar Law announced that he had received an intimation from Dublin that the prisoners who were not under conviction were to receive ameliorative treatment. The House was very quiet and uninterested in the statement, and the matter was allowed to drop at once.

Mr. Cecil Litchfield, who has been appointed principal private secretary to Sir Robert Horne, President of the Board of Trade, is the son of Mr. W. H. Litchfield, K.C., of Dublin and Belfast. Mr. C. Litchfield served under Sir Auckland Geddes at the Board of Trade for some months.

WAR VESSEL AT THE NORTH WALL EXTENSION.
A naval vessel of the torpedo destroyer patterns, and named the Undine, arrived at the east end of the port of Dublin early yesterday morning, and was given a berth alongside the North Wall extension. She was carrying special passengers, and to meet these and convey them from the Alexandra Basin premises to the city Government and official motor vehicles were brought down in the early hours of the morning. A number of military, police, and detectives were present at the extension, but the utmost secrecy was observed concerning the identity of the important travellers who had crossed the Channel from Holyhead.

ANOTHER DUBLIN CRIME.

POLICEMAN SHOT DEAD IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

THREE SHOTS FIRED.

Another member of the Dublin Metropolitan Police, Constable Henry Kells (35 B), was shot dead at the corner of Upper Camden street and Pleasants street at a quarter to ten yesterday morning. There appears to have been no witnesses of the actual shooting, except the assassin or assassins, but a number of people state that they heard three shots, and on running out of their houses observed a man lying on the footpath in the way. He was evidently badly wounded, and was taken in a private motor car belonging to a Mr. Baron to the Meath Hospital, where his death was pronounced extinct.

The deceased constable had resided at No. 7 Pleasants street for the past eleven years, and was well known and popular in the district. He had about twenty-two years' service in the force, during which he was attached to the College Police Station. Up to about four months ago he was on point duty in different places in the city, his last post being at the junction of Dame street and South Great George's street. He was then transferred to plain clothes duty in consequence of the alarming number of burglaries occurring in the city. He was concerned solely with criminal work, and had no connection with duties of a political or semi-political description. Constable Kells, who was about 40 years of age, was married, but had no family, and it is stated that his wife is lying very ill, and that the news of the tragedy has not been made known to her. Since being put on plain clothes duty a couple of months

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE MOUNTJOY PRISONERS.

The Times, in a leading article to-day, states:—Despite the uncompromising attitude of Mr. Bonar Law in the House of Commons on Tuesday, the Government have, it seems, wisely decided to release the hunger-strikers in Mountjoy Jail. Had the Government persisted in their original intention, we have no doubt that a duration of the utmost gravity must have arisen in Ireland. In the hush of a general strike the mind of an imaginative people would have become obsessed by the drama within the prison walls. Suspense must have grown increasingly acute, and if the first fatal news came only to be followed by that of successive deaths, the depths of national feeling would have been stirred. Dubliners have not forgotten the cumulative strain of the series of executions which followed the Easter Rising of 1916. Few who know Ireland well have not bitterly regretted the unwise policy which then prolonged the anxiety and horror of the Irish people, and was, perhaps, the dominant factor in provoking that strong reaction in favour of the Rebellion, of which this country is garnering the poisonous fruit to-day. It is scarcely credible that a same Government should in the light of that experience have contemplated the repetition of so fatal an error. Lord French and the Irish Executive are indeed to be congratulated, if wiser councils have, even at the eleventh hour, prevailed. Had, however, some indication of the concession now made been given at an earlier stage, the mercy of the Government would have seemed to emanate from an element of strength, not from weakness, and would consequently have borne some value in Irish eyes. Now, as the result of the obscurity of the Government's motives, Sinn Fein and Irish Labour may claim, though we think unjustly, a moral victory. That any such claim should even be advanced is the penalty which inconsistent and impetuous government must pay for lack of principle and foresight.

THE AUSTRIAN AND BULGARIAN TREATIES.

In an editorial article to-day The Times says:—The bill authorising the ratification of the Peace Treaties with Austria and with Bulgaria was read a second time yesterday without a division, after the rejection by a majority of 188 to 34 of an amendment moved by Colonel Malone. The amendment, it need hardly be said, was the emptiest of demonstrations. Its adoption would have meant a refusal to ratify the Treaty, as the House necessarily had not the right to amend such instruments. Everybody would have regarded such a step as a calamity, and most or all would this have been the view of the population in whose interests the amendment was supposed to be moved. The whole tone of the debate showed that members generally understood this truth. None of the speakers pretended that the Treaties are ideal, but it was seen on all sides that any settlement would be better for these peoples than no settlement at all. The great grievance of Austria, proceeds The Times, as Mr. Asquith and Lord Robert Cecil insisted, with a rhetoric which seems superfluous, and as other members agreed, is that her liability, like the liability of Germany, remains unlimited and undefined—"a floating charge," to borrow Mr. Asquith's phrase, over everything she has and over everything she can produce. We have pointed out in discussing the financial position of Germany the ruinous effects of such a position, both to the debtor State and to her creditors. It ought to be terminated for Germany as well as for Austria; at least there ought not to be much difficulty in fixing the moment at no distant date. Lord Robert Cecil is quite right when he maintains that the indefiniteness of this load visits with a creeping paralysis the moral and economic energies of the people upon whom it is cast. The pleas which he and Mr. Asquith put forward for immediate relief to Austria in this respect are the strongest, because both spoke with the utmost severity of the guilt of that Power in precipitating the war. We can never forget that, as we can never forget the cynical and callous selfishness with which Bulgaria, "under the evil inspiration of a bad King," refused the offer of the Allies and threw in her lot with the "militarist" tyrants, upon whose victory she relied. No punishment would be excessive for the wickedness of these Powers, but the aim of the Allies is not retributive; it is punishment only in so far as punishment is necessary to strike awe for the future into all who meditate ill deeds, coupled with adequate guarantees against the perpetration of such crimes.

UNITED STATES MOVEMENT AGAINST SINN FEIN.

American newspapers, says The Times, publish a manifesto by "The Loyal Coalition," which is described as "A Citizens' Committee of Americans, whose avowed purpose is to defend America from enemies within as well as from without." The manifesto says that "subtle and sinister efforts are being made by Sinn Fein and other Anarchistic influences to undermine and destroy the very fundamental principles of the American Government, and to disrupt and destroy for all time our present friendly and enduring relations with the English people." The Irish Republic myth, it declares, is "growing into a semblance of reality, at once dangerous and menacing." Sinn Fein agents are working hand to manipulate the Government—National, State, and Municipal—and are making inroads into every department of life, public and private. The time has come to put a stop to their efforts. "Do you," the manifesto asks, in conclusion, "want war with Great Britain at the sole instigation of Hibernian disruptionists?"

TRADE UNION BALLOTS.

Mr. A. M. Samuel has, says The Times, completed the draft of his bill to provide that when a ballot of trade union members is taken on questions relating to strikes it shall be conducted by independent public officials, and under a system of secrecy. The bill will be debated in the House of Commons next week. The measure is permissive. It is provided, not that a trade union shall, but that it may, decide to take a strike ballot under the Act. The procedure is similar to that of the Ballot Act, and the penalties for offences are those laid down in the Act of 1872.

THE HOME RULE BILL IN COMMITTEE.

The Government are prepared to give twenty days to the Home Rule Bill in Committee of the Whole House, states The Times, in accordance with a time-table which would allow of the discussion of the principal provisions of the measure.

IRISH-AUSTRALIAN TIRADES.

The Correspondent of The Times at Sydney, in a message dated Tuesday, states:—Events in Ireland are inducing many priests and leading Irish-Australians to deliver impassioned denunciations of England. These addresses are causing a strong Protestant loyalist reaction, but, feeling secure against punishment, revolutionary spirits are freely expressing Republican sentiments. The longer the British Government delays the Irish settlement the greater opportunity will the seditionists have to sow disruption in the Commonwealth.

THE PRINCE AND THE CINEMA MAN.

The Special Correspondent of The Times, biographing from Honolulu a description of the Prince of Wales's visit, states:—Among the incidents which delighted Americans is the Prince's treatment of a cinema man, who chartered a boat which followed the Royal barge to the shore. The Prince first turned his back, disinclined to be filmed off-hand in such a manner. "Be a good fellow, your Highness," shouted the photographer. "This is my bread and butter." The Prince smiled, and posed until the huntsman got 100 feet of splendid exclusive film, laughingly remarking—"This was a good example of American persistence."

AMERICAN RAILWAY DEADLOCK.

A Reuter's New York telegram of Tuesday says:—The strike deadlock continues in the West, and beyond Ohio the situation is almost unchanged. The Chicago strikers claim that they are holding their own, but an increased number of trains is being run in the East. The strikers are increasing, particularly in Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Trenton, and Scranton. One hundred thousand factory hands are idle in Detroit as the result of the supplies of raw materials being cut off. Many Ohio mines have been obliged to shut down. No tramcars are running in Philadelphia. Students of the John Hopkins University are taking the place of strikers in the railroad yards.

A Bushire (Persian Gulf) message says:—The Italian airmen, Captain Gordesco and Lieutenant Grissi, flying from Rome to Tokio, crashed in attempting to land near the French Consulate at Bushire on Tuesday. Both were killed.

THE MOUNTJOY HUNGER STRIKE.

PRISONERS RELEASED ON PAROLE.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

ACTING LORD MAYOR AT VICEREGAL LODGE.

We are officially informed that, according to an Order made yesterday morning, it is not intended to release unconditionally the hunger strikers in Mountjoy Prison, but an Order has been made that certain of them requiring medical treatment outside the prison will be released on parole for periods to be specified in each case by the examining medical officer of the prison.

In accordance with the above Order several of the prisoners were removed from the prison last evening to various Dublin hospitals.

SIXTY-SIX PRISONERS RELEASED.

The Lord Mayor stated last night that sixty-six of the hunger strikers had been transferred to various hospitals in the city, and that twenty-four additional men would be transferred to-day.

Previous to the removal of the prisoners there was much suppressed excitement amongst the crowd that waited outside the prison since morning. The withdrawal of the military from the approaches to the jail was generally regarded as an indication that developments had occurred overnight. It was thought that the prisoners had been released, but this belief was soon dispelled when intimation was given by visitors to the prisoners that some of them had collapsed and were on the verge of death. It was announced that amongst those who were in a very critical condition were Messrs. Malone, Carolan, Hunter, Breen, Noonan, and Hartc. The usual prayers were recited by the crowd, which also joined in the singing of the hymn "Hail, Glorious St. Patrick." Occasionally an aeroplane circled over the prison.

About two o'clock one of the prisoners—Joseph O'Neill, of Manor place, Dublin, who had been on hunger strike—was removed in an ambulance to the Mater Misericordiæ Hospital, and was obviously in a weak condition. Rumours again spread that the men on hunger strike were to be released, but inquiries in authoritative quarters failed to confirm them.

The Lord Mayor, who had arrived in the meantime, entered the prison, a passage through the crowd having been kept clear for him and other visitors by civilians, who linked hands along the streets leading to the jail. A detachment of military was in possession of the immediate approaches. Having been in the prison for a brief period, the Lord Mayor came out, and mentioned that he had received a message from Lord French summoning him to the Viceregal Lodge. This announcement was regarded as confirming the earlier rumours that a general release was imminent, and there was much excitement.

Later in the afternoon it was announced outside that the prisoners were to be released at once. A lane-way was formed in the crowd from the prison gates to the entrance of the Mater Hospital. Rev. Father Albert, O.S.F.C., asked the crowd to remain quiet, as the prisoners were very weak, and would be moved within an hour. Shortly afterwards a body of Volunteers marched towards the prison gates, apparently to help in the removal of the prisoners.

LORD MAYOR'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Lord Mayor, who had returned from the Viceregal Lodge, addressed the crowd, and said that he did not know whether the people would agree with him as to what he had done. Lord French had told him that all prisoners whom the doctors considered in danger would be released.

This announcement was received with a general feeling of relief, which was intensified later with the arrival of several ambulances to convey the prisoners to various hospitals. There was also a number of private motor cars, including those of doctors, to assist in the removal of the prisoners.

The Lord Mayor, in a statement to a Press representative last night, said that he went to the Viceregal Lodge and had an interview with the Lord Lieutenant. After a long conversation it was decided to give discretionary power to the prison doctor to release those prisoners whose lives were in danger by reason of the hunger strike.

Asked as to whether there were any conditions attached to the release, the Lord Mayor said that no conditions were mentioned at the interview. The Lord Mayor told the reporter—"I wanted to have the men released, and I have achieved my object."

Amongst the men released and in hospital are—

In St. Vincent's Hospital—A. M'Cabe, M.P., Sligo; Michael Hegarty, Dublin; J. Gannon, Inchicore; T. Twomey, Tipperary; S. T. O'Reilly, Fairview; J. B. O'Driscoll, Skibbereen; C. P. Lucy, Cork, and Michael O'Connell, Thurles.

The Acting Vice-President and some of the members of the Irish Guild of the Church waited upon the Archbishop of Dublin to request him to intervene on behalf of the prisoners in Mountjoy. His Grace being absent from home, the following message, which was drawn up to be telegraphed to all the bishops of the Church of Ireland, was left at the Palace:—

"Members of the Irish Guild of the Church request instant action on behalf of prisoners in Mountjoy."

APPEAL OF DUBLIN JEWS.

The following telegram has been sent to the Lord Lieutenant on behalf of the Dublin Hebrew congregation:—"While political matters are not within the ambit of our functions, we humbly appeal to Your Excellency in the name of religion and humanity to exercise your clemency towards the unfortunate men now at grips with grim death at Mountjoy Prison."

"CURFEW" PRISONER RELEASED.

Yesterday morning Cyril McGlynn, of Eglinton terrace, Donnybrook, who was arrested on Easter Monday under the "Curfew" Order, and was on hunger strike for the past few days, was released from Mountjoy Prison.

MODIFIED PRISON TREATMENT.

STATEMENT BY MR. BONAR LAW.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. T. P. O'Connor asked the Leader of the House whether he had any information with regard to present conditions in Mountjoy Prison, and to any decision to which the Government might have come.

Mr. Bonar Law—I have just received a telegram from the Irish Government, stating that the following minute was issued this morning by the Prisons Board:—

"There are three classes of prisoners at present in Mountjoy Prison:—

"(1) Prisoners who have been tried, (a) before a jury; (b) before a courtmartial, and (c) summarily, and have been convicted.

"(2) Prisoners who have been arrested and have been (a) before a magistrate and depositions taken, and (b) prisoners who have been before a magistrate and remanded for the purpose of having depositions taken to be sent for trial.

"(3) Persons who have been arrested and detained under the order of the Competent Military Authority.

"The first class are not entitled to ameliorative treatment, except under rules printed on November 22nd, 1919. The second class are, and always have been, and will be, treated as untried prisoners. In all the circumstances of the case, the Irish Government have decided that the third class—that is, those arrested on the order of the Competent Military Authority—will in future be given ameliorative treatment from the date of their arrest until the date of their conviction."

Mr. MacVeagh—Does "ameliorative treatment" mean that those prisoners will be treated as first class misdemeanants?

Mr. Bonar Law—Obviously I cannot give particulars. I do not know exactly what it does mean, but it does mean that they will be treated quite differently from both convicted prisoners and untried prisoners.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE.

HARMONIOUS RELATIONS.

Replying in the House of Commons yesterday to Capt. R. Terrell and Lieut.-Col. Sir Frederick Hall, who asked whether the Notes exchanged with France on the occasion of the recent operations on the Rhine would be published,

Mr. Bonar Law said he hoped that the question would not be pressed. The matter was one which would be better settled at San Remo than by public discussion. Replying to other questions, he said that the relations between the two countries were harmonious.

REFUSAL TO ADMIT LITVINOFF.

A Reuter's Copenhagen telegram of Tuesday says—As a result of the British Government's refusal to admit M. Litvinoff to England, the Russian Trade Commission refuses to go to London without him.

MINERS AND STRIKE.

The Executive of the Miners' Federation met in London yesterday to review the figures of the ballot, and prepare for a national conference of delegates to-day. It is believed there will not be a strike majority.

THE GENERAL STRIKE.

ITS END ANNOUNCED.

WORK TO BE RESUMED TO-DAY.

EXPORT OF FOOD TO BE STOPPED.

Dublin experienced a day of industrial inactivity yesterday similar in all respects to the previous day. There was an absolute suspension of every kind of trading, except in the purchase of such household essentials as bread and milk, which were obtainable either from purveyors' vans or the local groceries, most of which were opened for an interval in the forenoon. All other classes of business establishments—drapery, hardware, vintners', and victuallers' concerns—responded to the notification for a continuance of the strike. In the case, however, of a considerable section of the butchers, their compliance was more a matter of constraint than willing conformity, for the very good reason that a large quantity of the meat killed during the week-end remained on their hands when their premises were closed on Monday evening.

A CROWDED STREETS.

Throughout the day all the main streets were full of life and movement. Weather conditions favoured street promenading much more than on Tuesday, but the only impelling motive which prompted citizens to go out-of-doors was curiosity, and a desire to be of the crowd. Apart from the odd Sinn Feiner in Bridge street stoned the military. A detachment of twelve of the soldiers advanced to the foot of Bridge street, and while on a kneeling position were again stoned fiercely by the crowd. Several of the soldiers fired single volleys of apparently blank cartridge, but these having no effect, the soldiers were ordered to fire, about forty shots being discharged. Revolver shots were discharged at the soldiers from houses in Bridge street, and a youth from an entry was seen taking deliberate aim at the soldiers. As a result of the firing three civilians named McSorley, Keany, and Doran received injuries, for which they were treated in hospital. Notwithstanding this, the stoning of the soldiers continued. The Tyrone prisoner and another man arrested in one of the bayonet charges were taken to prison.

Afterwards crowds assembled outside the prison, where about 80 Sinn Fein prisoners are detained, and, fearing an attack on the building, police and military were brought out. Rival civilian crowds proceeded to attack each other with stones, and many windows in the locality were broken. Ultimately the parties were dispersed, and quiet was restored about 11 o'clock.

DARING OUTRAGE IN DUNDALK.

INLAND REVENUE OFFICES BURNED IN DAYLIGHT.

STAFF TERRIFIED BY ARMED MEN.

Our Dundalk Correspondent telegraphed last night:—An extraordinary occurrence took place in Dundalk this afternoon. At ten minutes to 2 o'clock thirty men, armed with revolvers and wearing masks, entered the Inland Revenue Office in Park street, and demanded to see Mr. Shaw, the Supervisor. Mr. Shaw was in the hall, about to leave for dinner. He was covered with a revolver and ordered to the basement. Mr. J. P. Dunne, who was in his office, was ordered to put up his hands, and was searched. He was then brought to the hall, where he was taken to the hall, and again searched. They were then marched to the basement, where they found Mr. Fitzgerald, a Customs officer, whom they also searched. They then marched to the basement, where they found the Supervisor. All these were made to face the wall, while three men armed with revolvers stood on guard over them.

In a short time one of the raiders asked "Is it a fire?" and another apparently the leader, replied "Yes." The men then rushed upstairs. Meanwhile members of the raiding party had entered the office and started work, petrol. Official papers were kindled in a fireplace. Particular attention was paid to the office of the Supervisor, in which the most confidential papers and records were kept. The office safe, which is situated on the ground floor, was first set ablaze. The officials in the basement were ordered not to leave for five minutes, one of the armed men stating that a guard was outside. When the stipulated time had elapsed the officials rushed upstairs and found the offices ablaze. The fire spread rapidly, and within an hour the entire four-storey building was completely gutted.

The military fire brigade turned out with their engine in good time, but the town brigade did not attend. Efforts were directed to saving the books on the ground floor, which in the main military were successful. Independent of any question of value of papers, the building alone is estimated to have been worth £10,000. While the fire was in progress there was a crowd of townspeople, marching in fours, came from St. Patrick's Church, where the Rosary had been recited for the prisoners, interned on visit St. Malachy's Church, where a similar service had been arranged. A military officer stopped the procession, and placed armed soldiers across Park street. The men stood by their bicycles, but, after a consultation, the processionists returned down the street. Earlier in the day the Supervisor, on the instructions of the Viceregal Inland Revenue Office, and asked that the Supervisor should dismiss the clerks at work owing to the recent strike. Mr. Shaw declined to do so, stating that he had no authority, but he promised to telegraph to his superior officer for instructions.

A short time after the outrage the fire engines arrived on the scene, but the flames had gained such headway that the building was practically destroyed.

TWO POLICEMEN WOUNDED

INCIDENT AT A DANCE.

Our Claremorris Correspondent telegraphs:—A deplorable incident in connection with a ball in Aughamore, on Sunday night, was an attack upon two constables who were spending a holiday in their native district. The constables were highly popular young men, and had been invited to the ball or dance which was held in the village school. Their names are Mulrenan and Byrne. The festivities went on till early in the morning, when the constables were asked out for refreshments a short distance away. They accepted the invitation, and on their return, after an absence of half an hour, were fired on from a thick grove opposite the school. Mulrenan received a large number of pellets in the face, and Byrne was slightly injured, while two civilians who accompanied them are reported to have been slightly wounded. Constable Mulrenan's injuries necessitated his removal to Dublin to have the pellets extracted.

BATON CHARGES IN NENAGH.

Exciting scenes were witnessed in Nenagh on Tuesday night, when several baton charges took place, and many people were injured. It appears that about 9 p.m., while a police patrol was going up Castle street, some person shouted "Up Knocklong," with the result that the police charged with batons in Petter street, and subsequently a large force, in skirmishing order and armed with carbines, cleared the streets. Several people were hit with batons.

SERIOUS AFFRAY IN DERRY.

POLICE AND MILITARY ATTACKED.

MOB DISPERSED BY BAYONET CHARGES.

Our Londonderry Correspondent telegraphs:—A desperate affray, in which police and civilians were involved, and in which several persons were injured, took place yesterday evening in the vicinity of the Great Northern Railway station. There was a large crowd in the street owing to the strike in sympathy with the prisoners in Mountjoy Prison. About four o'clock a large military lorry arrived at the railway terminus to escort a prisoner to jail. The crowd moved towards the station, where there was an immense assemblage. There were shouts of "Up, Dublin," and "Up, its Republic" was written on the military lorry. The police were immediately telephoned for, and a force arrived with fixed bayonets. They were jeered at as they approached the station, and the crowd sang "The Soldier's Song." When the military and police escort, consisting of two constables and six soldiers, with fixed bayonets, emerged from the station with the Sinn Fein prisoner, who was arrested by the military in Fintona, they were decisively cheered and pelted with stones by members of the crowd. They retreated to the railway building, where the prisoner was placed in a waiting-room under a military guard.

Meanwhile the crowd outside, and the subsequent action of the police, reinforced by military, seemed to inflame the passions of the crowd, and numerous baton charges ensued. The crowd continued to hurl stones, pieces of brick, and broken spouting at the constables who were guarding the railway station.

With fixed bayonets the police dispersed the crowd, and it is alleged that from the retreating civilians revolver shots were discharged. After each bayonet charge by the police the crowd returned and renewed the stone-throwing. So serious did the situation become that two companies of military and an armoured car were brought to the scene. The crowd of Sinn Feiners in Bridge street stoned the military. A detachment of twelve of the soldiers advanced to the foot of Bridge street, and while on a kneeling position were again stoned fiercely by the crowd. Several of the soldiers fired single volleys of apparently blank cartridge, but these having no effect, the soldiers were ordered to fire, about forty shots being discharged. The military fire brigade turned out with their engine in good time, but the town brigade did not attend. Efforts were directed to saving the books on the ground floor, which in the main military were successful. Independent of any question of value of papers, the building alone is estimated to have been worth £10,000. While the fire was in progress there was a crowd of townspeople, marching in fours, came from St. Patrick's Church, where the Rosary had been recited for the prisoners, interned on visit St. Malachy's Church, where a similar service had been arranged. A military officer stopped the procession, and placed armed soldiers across Park street. The men stood by their bicycles, but, after a consultation, the processionists returned down the street. Earlier in the day the Supervisor, on the instructions of the Viceregal Inland Revenue Office, and asked that the Supervisor should dismiss the clerks at work owing to the recent strike. Mr. Shaw declined to do so, stating that he had no authority, but he promised to telegraph to his superior officer for instructions.

A short time after the outrage the fire engines arrived on the scene, but the flames had gained such headway that the building was practically destroyed.

INCIDENT AT A DANCE.

Our Claremorris Correspondent telegraphs:—A deplorable incident in connection with a ball in Aughamore, on Sunday night, was an attack upon two constables who were spending a holiday in their native district. The constables were highly popular young men, and had been invited to the ball or dance which was held in the village school. Their names are Mulrenan and Byrne. The festivities went on till early in the morning, when the constables were asked out for refreshments a short distance away. They accepted the invitation, and on their return, after an absence of half an hour, were fired on from a thick grove opposite the school. Mulrenan received a large number of pellets in the face, and Byrne was slightly injured, while two civilians who accompanied them are reported to have been slightly wounded. Constable Mulrenan's injuries necessitated his removal to Dublin to have the pellets extracted.

BATON CHARGES IN NENAGH.

Exciting scenes were witnessed in Nenagh on Tuesday night, when several baton charges took place, and many people were injured. It appears that about 9 p.m., while a police patrol was going up Castle street, some person shouted "Up Knocklong," with the result that the police charged with batons in Petter street, and subsequently a large force, in skirmishing order and armed with carbines, cleared the streets. Several people were hit with batons.

PARLIAMENT.

THE AUSTRIAN AND BULGARIAN TREATIES.

RATIFICATION BILL.

MR. ASQUITH'S CRITICISMS.

In the House of Commons yesterday, the Speaker took the chair at 2.45 p.m.

NO NAVAL MANŒUVRES.

Colonel Craig, in reply to Lieut.-Commander Kenworthy, said that it was not proposed to carry out naval manœuvres this year, but there was in contemplation the commissioning of a certain number of vessels in reserve for a short period.

ALLEGED MURDER OF BRITISH OFFICERS

Mr. Leonard Lyle asked the Secretary for War whether his attention had been called to the statement that two British officers were recently captured by the Bolsheviks, brutally tortured, and then murdered.

Sir Archibald Williamson said that urgent inquiries were being made to ascertain the truth of the statements.

GERMAN ATTACKS ON BRITISH JOURNALISTS.

In reply to a question by Colonel Wedgwood as to the action of the Baltic troops and Lieut. Linsenmeyer in arresting and ill-treating the newspaper correspondents at Essen—

Mr. Harmsworth said that Lord Kilmarnock had, on the instructions of the Foreign Secretary, made a protest and demanded an apology, and adequate punishment of the guilty parties. The German Government had expressed regret direct to Mr. Voigt, the Manchester Guardian Correspondent, and had ordered an immediate strict inquiry to be instituted.

Colonel Wedgwood—Is it likely that the German Government will carry out disciplinary action in regard to Lieut. Linsenmeyer?

Mr. Harmsworth—I should think so, certainly.

COUNTING OF VOTES IN ELECTIONS.

Dr. Addison, in reply to Major Morrison Bell, said that the Government had decided to bring in a bill to abolish the interval that elapsed now between polling and counting votes at Parliamentary elections. This proposal would be limited to the United Kingdom. The proxy vote would be continued in certain areas, but some slight modification in the present minimum period might be necessary. A bill was in preparation, and would be introduced at an early date.

AUSTRIAN AND BULGARIAN TREATIES.

Mr. Cecil Harmsworth, in moving the second reading of the Treaties of Peace (Austria and Bulgaria) Bill, said that this was a bill for giving effect to the Treaties of Peace with Austria and with Bulgaria. When the bill was passed those Treaties would have been ratified, so far as this country was concerned. As the House knew, no doubt aware, although they had the power to reject the Treaties, they had not the power to amend them in any detail. He would warn the House against a certain attitude of mind that had been adopted very largely in regard to the Peace Treaties with our former enemies. That attitude had been expressed with singular literary skill by Mr. Keynes in his well-known book on the Paris Peace Conference. It was an attitude of mind that seemed to assume that if any of those Peace Treaties fell short of what the writer thought desirable, the fault lay with the Allies. But they were not responsible for the war, nor for its devastation and the present deplorable situation in Central Europe. The responsibility for that lay entirely on Empire of Austria had crumbled into its component parts. They had to regard the situation from the point of view of men who, through no fault of their own, were confronted with enormous economic and political difficulties, and had made an exceedingly good job of the very refractory material they had to deal with. He claimed for the Austrian Peace Treaty that it was an eminently satisfactory one. He went further, and said that in some respects it was a lenient, and even an indulgent, treaty. He invited members who objected to it to state what constructive suggestions they would have made if they had had a hand in framing the Treaty. How could the dismemberment of the Austrian Empire have been avoided? It was impossible to form that principle of "self-determination" had been violated, neither could it be said that the reparation clauses were too severe. He pronounced the armistice that had treated their enemies with a magnanimity unparalleled in the history of war. There were satisfactory indications that Bulgaria was reconciling herself to the terms of peace, and the Government noted with pleasure that the Bulgarian Prime Minister had boldly set to work to cleanse Bulgarian public life from the corrupt influences which centred round the Court of the late King Ferdinand. They hoped that those efforts would be crowned with complete pacification, conciliation and an enduring peace in the Balkans.

MR. ASQUITH.

Mr. Asquith congratulated the hon. member on the able manner in which he had discharged a delicate task. He re-echoed the admirable admonition that the only way to prevent a recurrence of the war was by the prompt and effective operation of the League of Nations. He regretted that there had been such a long interval before the ratification of these Treaties, because every month's delay aggravated the political and economic chaos which prevailed. The Bulgarian Treaty was a tragic illustration of the Nemesis which attended a short-sighted and selfish policy. Bulgaria entered the war without any justification or pretext. She waited for a year to see how the cat jumped, and then, under the evil inspiration of a bad King, joined the Central Powers at a very critical moment in the war. She had a very great deal of responsibility for the prolongation of the war and the sufferings involved. It could not be said that the Powers had dealt too harshly with Bulgaria. They ought not, however, permanently to impoverish and humiliate her, and he trusted that she would soon be granted economic outlets to the Ægean Sea. It was impossible to pass a wholly favourable judgment on the Treaty with Austria. He had no disposition to extenuate the part which Austria played in the war, nor did he dispute the proposition that the dismemberment of the Austrian Empire was an inevitable incident of peace, but it had been overlooked that for years Austria-Hungary had been an economic unit, and in the evolution of the new States it was all-important that the integrity of the old economic unity should be maintained. The new States ought not to have been put in the position of being able to erect economic barriers ag inst one another. Unless that mistake was corrected rapidly it would have the effect of "Balkanising" that part of Europe. The real gravamen of the criticism against the Treaty was the absence of any provision for free commercial intercourse between the various States, so that they could prosper and develop. Look at the position of German Austria under the Treaty. She could not feed or supply herself, and she always had been dependent on other parts of the Austrian Empire. Now the other States refused to supply her, and her main support was the credit of 40,000,000 dollars from America. They witnessed the bizarre and fantastic spectacle of coal coming from America crossing on the railways coal going from Czecho-Slovakia to Italy, while sugar going to Vienna crossed Czecho-Slovak sugar going to France. Could anyone imagine a more absurd, topsy-turvy state of things, or one more calculated to paralyze the economic development of the new States?

THE REPARATION CLAUSES.

He passed on to the inter-dependent topic—the Reparation Clauses of the Treaty. The Reparation Commission had power to investigate these clauses, but the Treaty remained that the Commission was given a floating charge over the whole enterprise and industry of the inhabitants of German Austria for years to come. How could they expect any country to restart with energy and with success its economic life under such a burden as that? The thing was unthinkable. He had no spirit of bitterness towards the Austrian people. They deserved to suffer for what they had done, but what could be more short-sighted than to impoverish and starve the only reservoir out of which must flow the stream which would enable them to make reparation? In his judgment, the Treaty ought to be revised in the light of these facts and of the experience gained. He knew the difficulties and obstacles, but he urged very strongly, with the fullest possible conviction of the justice and expediency of what he suggested, that the best interests of the Allies and of the civilisation of the world demanded that the total burden to be imposed on Austria should be carefully and promptly defined in amount by the Reparation Commission, in which it was only fair and right to include an Austrian representative. Next, he thought that the Allied Powers or the League of Nations should insist on the disarmament of the new States; steps should be taken, in a not unfriendly spirit, to deal with the small States, and prevent the growth of armaments. He understood that Czecho-Slovakia had actually passed a conscription law. It was monstrous that these new experiments in free national life should be disfigured and crippled in the early stages of their existence by a gross and wholly unwarranted expenditure on armaments. (Hear, hear.) If the defects in the Treaty to which he had referred were promptly and effectually remedied, he would be prepared to wait for further experience before asking for its complete revision. But so long as these defects existed he could not regard the Treaty as providing an effectual safeguard to the peace and prosperity of Eastern Europe. (Cheers.)

THE REJECTION MOVED.

Colonel Malone moved as an amendment—"That this House declines to give a second reading to a bill which in the case of Austria places unreasonable economic burdens on that country, and in the case of both Austria and Bulgaria violates the principle of 'self-determination' and contains the seeds of future wars."

The bill was read a second time.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

SPURIOUS MARTYRDOM.

In a leading article, the Morning Post says: The Government, as might have been expected, have given way with regard to the Irish prisoners, who are attempting to achieve a spurious martyrdom by slow suicide, and in thus yielding to intimidation they have again exposed their fatal weakness. In the first place the Government should never have allowed the situation to occur. Now that it has occurred there is but one safe course to follow, which is to correct the original mistake without delay. The original mistake of the Government was to proceed upon the assumption that the disorder and crime in Ireland are merely an exaggerated form of the usual offences against the law, that they are what is called political in origin, and, therefore, in some mysterious way comparatively venial. Reasoning upon a demonstrably false hypothesis the Government attempts to restore order by the usual civilian methods, slightly stiffened by the Defence of the Realm Act. These methods have utterly and ignominiously failed. Ireland is in a condition of armed, savage, and dangerous rebellion. The Government, continuing to pretend that there is no rebellion, meet it with the civil arm, which is naturally useless. The whole argument for the release of the hunger-strikers rests upon the false assumption that Ireland is not in a state of rebellion, and it is that very assumption upon which the Government are acting. Lord Robert Cecil demanded the constitution of a special tribunal to try men arrested on mere suspicion. To set up such a tribunal would not only require an Act of Parliament, but it would be as powerless as the existing courts to obtain evidence. There can be but one solution of the problem, and that is to declare and to enforce martial law. The Irish are driving the irresolute Government towards that expedient, and the longer the abdication is postponed the more innocent men will be assassinated, and the more difficult will prove the reconquest of Ireland. And by their latest action the Government themselves have provided an easy method of escape for the prisoners. They have only to refuse their food for a day or two to "receive ameliorative treatment."

CHANGE OF POLICY.

The Political Correspondent of the Daily Mail, writing on the cause of the hunger-strikers, says:—It marks the beginning of an entire change of Irish policy, which was decided on at the time of the appointment of Sir Nevil Macready to the command of the troops in Ireland, and there are some very strange incidents associated with it which overshadow in interest the actual concessions.

The Premier decided to make a change of policy on the occasion of the loss of the lord associated with the old régime. His manner of doing so was peculiar. It is understood that the first announcement made to Mr. Macpherson of his dismissal was that given after his speech on the second reading of the Home

THE RAGG VILLAGE MURDER.

EVIDENCE AT THE RESUMED INQUEST.

A CROSS-ROADS INCIDENT.

Telegraphing from Thurles yesterday, our Reporter says:—The inquest on the body of Thomas Dwyer, aged 30, a publican in the village of Bouladuff, popularly known as The Ragg, was resumed by Dr. Martin Fennelly at Inch National School to-day. The children attending the school were granted a holiday to enable the inquest to be held, and when the youngsters had trooped out a large force of armed police took possession of the schoolroom. The police also took up positions outside the schoolhouse. The attendance of the public was not very large. Dwyer was shot at his residence on the night of the 28th or morning of the 29th March.

Mr. Patrick Lynch, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. J. P. Carrigan and W. J. Skinner, solicitors), conducted the proceedings on behalf of the next-of-kin of the deceased man. Mr. Babington, K.C. (instructed by Mr. M. Gleeson, Crown Solicitor), appeared for the Crown. County Inspector Dunlop and District Inspector Golden represented the police.

Michael Ryan, Ballypatrick, examined by Mr. Lynch, stated that on Sunday evening, 28th March, he was at The Ragg cross-road about eight o'clock (old time). Four or five others were with him. While they were talking a man came up on a bicycle, got off it, and said, "Disperse and go home." The witness said, "We were all born and reared here, and we are at home." Another man came up on a bicycle and also dismounted. The two men drew revolvers and said, "Now, ye ——, will ye clear?"

Did anything happen to you? I had my hands in my pockets at the time, and I was knocked down by one of the men. That man had a revolver in his hand over me. My brother came up and said, "Let him up," and my brother was then covered with a revolver by the second man: I was allowed to get up then, and we all got away. I was, however, hurt, and my ankle is still sore. The two men were dressed in greyish overcoats. One had a greenish shade of overcoat, and wore a soft hat of a brownish shade, while the second man had a greyish overcoat and wore a cap. As we moved away I heard two shots fired.

Did you ever see those two men before or since? I think I can identify one of them—the man with the cap who knocked me down.

Have you seen him since? No.

Have you seen him before? Yes, I think I saw him before, and I took stock of him on that night. He is a policeman in Dovea Barracks. The witness added that on Easter Monday a motor lorry came towards the Cross from the Borrisoleigh direction, and proceeded in the Thurles direction. That was about eight o'clock (old time). The witness was about fifty or sixty yards from the lorry when it passed by, and he saw police in it. They were cheering and singing. The witness heard them say, "Dwyer, you —— are in your day."

Cross-examined by Mr. Babington, the witness stated that beyond what he told he knew nothing about Dwyer's murder. Sergeant Foody afterwards came to him and made inquiries.

Mr. Babington—Did you tell him what you have told us to-day? I told him I would give him no statement.

Did you make any complaint to the police in Thurles or Dovea about the conduct of one of those constables? I did not.

Were the words, "Dwyer, you —— you are in your day," that you heard the police in the lorry, set to music? Yes, they had a kind of rhyme about it.

Martin Barry, Liscreagh, stated that on Sunday, 28th March, he met two men half-way between The Ragg Cross and Dovea Barracks. Both men were cycling towards the Cross. One man got off his bicycle and asked the witness where he was going. He said that he was going home. The man then asked his name, and if he was anything to the man arrested the morning before. The witness said he was a brother. Then the man said "I must search you," which he did. The witness saw both men before and since.

The witness then identified a policeman whose name he heard was Constable Eakins. This man, he said, had the brown hat and green coat. The witness saw the other man last Sunday at Mass. He was in uniform then, but a greyish coat day. He was a clean shaven man. Both men belonged to Dovea Barracks. It was near 8 o'clock in the evening when those men met him. On Easter Monday evening the witness saw a motor lorry containing police pass through The Ragg, and heard shouting and singing.

Mr. Babington—Did you hear any expression? Yes, I heard them drawing down Dwyer's name.

Are you sure you heard them mention Dwyer's name? Yes.

Patrick Lowry, Ballypatrick, an ex-soldier, stated, in reply to Mr. Lynch—I was at The Ragg cross-road evening, 28th March. At 1 was there from 7 o'clock till 8 o'clock. I was there when Mr. Ryan was knocked down. The witness identified the first witness as to the two men who came up on bicycles and ordered them away. The witness added that he saw one of them at Mass last Sunday, and in a policeman's uniform. He was stationed at Dovea Barracks. The witness identified the man who wore the green coat and the soft hat as Constable Eakins, who was in court in police uniform. Continuing, the witness corroborated the two previous witnesses as to the passage of the police lorry on the evening of April 4th.

Cross-examined by Mr. Babington, it was not Constable Eakins, but the other man, who used bad language to Michael Ryan.

Martin Ryan, farmer, Ballypatrick, who was also at The Ragg Cross on Sunday evening, 28th March, gave corroborative evidence.

To Mr. Babington—After the shooting of Dwyer Sergeant Foody came to the witness, but he declined to give him any information.

Can you form any opinion as to the reason why those two men should have made such an attack on you? Unless that they wanted to have the place cleared for something else, the way they would have no one about the roads for what occurred later on.

In order that Dwyer might be shot—is that what you mean? Yes.

To Mr. Lynch—He noticed the condition of the two men; they had drink taken, and were excited.

Patrick Sheritt, Ballypatrick, stated that on Easter Monday he saw a motor lorry filled with police at the Ragg, apparently coming from Thurles and going to Borrisoleigh. The police covered witness and John Toomey, who was with him, with their rifles. Since then one week evening, between seven and eight o'clock, when passing Dovea Barrack, two constables rushed out of a motor lorry and followed him and another man. They were called on to halt. They did so, and one of the constables used an objectionable expression towards him, and struck him on the jaw.

WIDOWED SISTER'S EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Kate Delaney, widow, a sister of the late Thos. Dwyer, stated:—I was in the house on the Sunday night of 28th March. There were also in the house my invalid uncle and my baby daughter, aged three years. My brother had been out till evening, and returned about 12 o'clock. He came to the window of my bedroom, first tapped, and asked was I asleep. I said no, and he said, "There is no danger: I think I will come in." I said, "If you think you are safe, come in," and I admitted him. He then went to his own room after lighting his candle. His bedroom is at the back of the house. After about five minutes, there was knocking at the door.

Mr. Lynch, K.C.—What sort of knocking was it? It was like the butt-ends of rifles—something heavy. I let them knock for a few minutes, and then went to the door, and said, "Who is there?" They said "Friends," and "Is Thomas Dwyer in?" I said that Tom was not in, and they said that they were certain that Tom was inside, and to open the door or they would break it in. I rushed to Tom's room, and let the knocking continue. I lit his candle, and said, "Tom, get up; you are going to be either shot or arrested." He appeared very frightened, and said, "Kit, won't you stay with me." I said that of course I would; but as the knocking increased he told me to admit them. In passing the kitchen door, I undid the back door, and admitted the latch. My baby was then awakened by the noise, and I went to take her up. They burst in the door, and came twelve men came in, one after the other. I saw that the first man was disguised. His forehead and the upper part of his cheeks were blackened, and he wore a false beard. I yelled when I found him disguised, because I knew that they had come for no good purpose. He then presented a rifle at me, and said that if I yelled he would shoot me. I was then standing at my bedroom door. All the five men were carrying rifles, and the second man had a flash lamp. They were all disguised. Some of them wore dark coats and others light coats. I observed two of them—the first and last fellows. The first one wore a greyish overcoat, with a grey Trilby hat. He was the man who said that he would shoot me. He held me up until the four others went into Tom's room. The last man was dressed in a greenish overcoat and a brown Trilby hat. He had a white handkerchief tied round his neck, and had taken off his collar. He also had a false beard and was blackened.

Did the man who held you up at your bedroom door follow the others into your brother's room? Yes. They had two rooms to pass through before they came to my brother's door. He came out from his room, and I heard him say "Don't shoot, don't shoot" twice. They then fired two shots. I heard one of them say, "Has he got enough?" Another fellow answered, and said "No; fire another one into him," which he did. After that they came out from the room again, and one said, "Is there anyone else here to be shot?" and the other answered "No," and they walked out. That was about 12.20 a.m. (old time). My brother could not be in more than five minutes when the knocking came.

What was the general appearance of this body of men? They were of uniform size. One was smaller than the others. The first was a small man, the other three were of fair size, and the fifth man was taller. He might appear taller, because the others were in the hollow.

Do you remember some days after this occurrence a sergeant or an Inspector being at your house with some police? Yes, the County Inspector and District Inspector visited the house, and later in the day Sergeant Foody and three or four constables came. They were talking about what occurred the night before. One of the men said that their patrol met five men on bicycles the evening before, about 8 o'clock or thereabouts.

Since your brother was buried have you noticed the attitude of the police or of any bodies of police in passing the house? Yes. They yelled and jeered at us every time they passed. On Easter Monday, after coming The Ragg, they passed our house and said—"Dwyer is in, The Ragg is out." The witness added that after the attack on the Drumbane Police Barrack Sergeant Foody came to make inquiries and he took Tom outside. Afterwards Tom told her that the sergeant put a revolver up to his chest as if to frighten out of him if he knew anything about it.

Mr. Babington—Is it your case that since your brother was shot the police have been exulting over his death to you, his sister? Yes.

Do you know where the police in those vehicles were from, or where they were going to? They came from Nenagh direction, and were going in that direction, and were called the police.

On 29th March the witness gave a statement to Sergeant Foody, who read over her statement to her, and she signed it.

Mr. Babington—You then said nothing about one man having a green overcoat and a brown hat? The statement is altogether different to what I said to him.

You said nothing about one of them wearing a green overcoat and a brown hat. Why did you not say that, if your evidence to-day is true? There were plenty of witnesses there when I made my statement to Sergeant Foody, and they can tell what I did say to him.

I told him that some of them were different overcoats.

In reply to Mr. Lynch, she said that she thought that the men who came to her house on the night of the murder were police.

Why did you form that opinion? First and foremost, they were of uniform height, and then their movements led me to think that they were police.

Could you identify any of the men who were in your house? Yes, I think I can identify one of them. I saw him in uniform in a patrol from Dovea Barracks.

Mr. Lynch—Where Sergeant Foody visited you was some reference made to the Berks? No, it was when County Inspector Dunlop and District Inspector Golden visited me. Some man passing at that time said that it was one of the Berks shot him.

Do you mean by one of the Berks a policeman? Yes, one of those military policemen they have in the police force now.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE.

Dr. Vincent Power, Borrisoleigh, stated that on making an examination of Dwyer's body he found a bullet wound about four inches below the left nipple, which passed through the lower lobe of his left lung and came out in his back at a lower level. He also found a wound of entrance of another bullet in the back, which bullet probably remained inside in the abdomen. A third bullet passed through his left wrist. Death was caused by hemorrhage and shock following the bullet wounds described.

AN EXPLOSION.

Mr. Richard Small, The Ragg, stated that on the morning of the 29th March an explosion took place outside the shop. On going down stairs he found the doors and windows of the shop blown away and the foundation of the house shaken. Next morning he found traces of a bomb having been exploded.

Miss Nora Callanan, The Ragg, stated that she heard the explosion of a bomb early on the morning of March 29th, and then footsteps running towards Dovea Barrack.

Mr. John Bannon, an ex-soldier, stated that he was in the house of the deceased man when Sergeant Foody interviewed Mrs. Delaney. Mrs. Delaney did not mention anything to him about one of the men wearing a green coat and brown hat; but he heard Mrs. Delaney tell the sergeant that one of the men wore a green coat.

Cross-examined by Mr. Babington, the witness said that he heard Mrs. Delaney speaking to Sergeant Foody. He was passing in and out at the time, but did not actually take part in the interview.

Thomas Hayes, postman, Thurles, gave evidence that after delivering letters on the morning of the 29th March at Dovea Barrack he found a hat on the ground about five or six yards from the barrack. It was a grey, hat that he took to be velour. It struck him at the time that some of the sergeant's children might have left out the hat, and he threw it on to the lawn in front of the barracks. He afterwards saw the guard at the barracks, to whom he had previously given letters, come out of the barracks and take the hat into the barracks.

THE CASE FOR THE CROWN.

Mr. Babington, K.C., addressing the jury on behalf of the Attorney-General, said that his instructions were to produce for the purpose of the inquiry all the evidence that could possibly be afforded by the police books, police entries, and the police officials in charge of this district. They might agree with him or not, but so far as the authorities were concerned, it made absolutely no difference whether the person who was done to death was a policeman or civilian. The duty which they were endeavouring to fulfil was to see that in every case where a man had been foully murdered general rush for the shops, which were opened the perpetrators or perpetrators were brought to retribution and justice. But it was very hard to do that unless proper assistance was given to the persons at the head of the force for the purpose of producing evidence to lead to conviction of the person suspected. On this particular occasion the County and District Inspectors visited the scene of the murder at the earliest possible moment. They were afforded no evidence of any sort that would give them a clue as to who committed the murder.

COUNTY INSPECTOR'S EVIDENCE.

County Inspector Dunlop stated that he visited The Ragg with District Inspector Golden on the morning of the occurrence. Mrs. Delaney told them that the murder had been committed about 12.30 or one o'clock. At the time she said that they wore Trilby hats and bright coats, but she could not identify any of the men. The witness and Mr. Golden then went to Dovea Barracks and found the sergeant and all the men present. They impounded the guard's diary, and no entry had been made in them since. The diary showed that a patrol had been out from the barracks. Inquiries made amongst the two barrack orderlies and the sergeant elicited the fact that none of the police were out that night. The men appeared to be perfectly normal when he arrived, and up to the time they had heard nothing of the murder. The witness ordered a parade of the men, and asked to have all the ammunition carried out produced. There was none missing, and all the arms were clean. The full number of bombs were also in the barracks. So far as he knew none of the police in the district ever handled a bomb of the kind described to have been used at Mr. Small's house.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lynch—He assumed that the barrack books were correct. The ammunition was checked by a book in the barrack, which was kept by the sergeant. Constable Eakens was present in the barrack on the Sunday preceding the occurrence. He returned to barrack about a quarter to six, and called the roll at 10 p.m. The force consisted of one sergeant and fourteen constables.

District Inspector Golden stated that it was in Thurles that he heard of the shooting. He heard a man say that Dwyer was shot by the police at The Ragg. He reported the matter to the County Inspector, and they made inquiries. No information relating to the murder was given to him. The witness appealed to Mrs. Delaney to give him any information that she possessed, and she said that all the information that she had was given to Sergeant Foody.

SERGEANT FOODY EXAMINED.

Sergeant Foody, Dovea, stated that he was in and about the barrack on March 29th. At eight o'clock he went out on patrol with five constables until eleven o'clock. He only saw two men when he was out. They were James Ryan and Wm. Callanan. About a quarter to nine he passed through The Ragg, and returned about half-past ten. There was nobody then to be seen. He heard no shots when out. Constable Eakens was in uniform in the barrack when he was leaving, and all the men were present when he returned. Constable McQuillan was on guard during the night with Constable Thos. Donnelly. The witness heard no report of shots during the night. Mrs. Delaney made no mention in her statement about a man wearing a brown hat and a green coat.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lynch, the witness said that he was in Dovea since September, 1917. He had two summonses against the deceased man for breaches of the Lighting Act, both of which were dismissed. He remembered interrogating deceased at the time of the attack on Drombane Barracks. It was not true that he put a revolver to his chest then. A number of police went out for a walk on the evening that Dwyer was shot, but he could not say when they went out or when they came in.

The proceedings were then adjourned till tomorrow (Thursday).

NEW ISSUES.

THE INTER-NORTHERN CORPORATION, LTD.

The prospectus appears to-day of the Inter-Northern Corporation, which has been formed under strong auspices primarily for the purpose of financing and assisting sound industrial enterprises in the United Kingdom, to conduct and finance business with foreign countries, and to establish and maintain branches and agencies abroad. On these lines substantial business is already assured, and all the money now obtained, except preliminary expenses of £8,000, will be available for the purposes of the company. The capital is £250,000, in 245,000 preferred ordinary shares of £1 each and 100,000 deferred ordinary shares of 1s. each. The present issue is 245,000 pref. ordinary and 100,000 def. at par. 120,000 pref. ord. and 75,000 def. shares have been applied for by the directors and their friends, and applicants who get allotments will be entitled to one deferred to every five pref.-ordinary. Applications for deferred shares alone will not be considered. The pref.-ordinary get 7 p.c. and one-half of the surplus divisible profits. The board is a strong one, and there is great scope for the operations of the company. The share list will close on or before Tuesday, April 20. (Prospectus Page 7.)

THE ANGLO-CELTIC SHIPPING COMPANY, LTD.

George Clare and Co. invite applications at par for 400,000 out of the 500,000 ordinary £1 shares of the Anglo-Celtic Shipping Company, Ltd., of Cardiff, which has been formed to purchase the steamers Oakfield, Inverness, Dumfries, and Caithness of a total dead-weight tonnage of 25,597 tons. Three of them have been purchased from the Western Counties Shipping Company, and several of the directors of that concern are on the board of the Anglo-Celtic. The total value of the steamers acquired is put at £585,000, and the purchase price is £580,000, which will be provided out of the proceeds of the present issue and by a loan of £200,000 from the company's bankers. The directors are satisfied that the steamers are now making a profit of £142,256 per annum, and out of this it is proposed to pay 20 p.c. on the ordinary shares, £14,000 interest on the loan, and place £48,000 to depreciation, Messrs. Griffiths, Payne, and Co. will undertake the management of the steamers. 50,000 of the shares have been applied for by the directors and their friends, and the shares now offered appear to be an attractive shipping investment. The list will close on or before Tuesday, April 20. (Prospectus Page 7.)

THE GENERAL STRIKE.

was little to receive in the way of mail bags in the morning, while the evening boat brought only about eighty passengers and no mails. The latter fact is, perhaps, unique in the long history of the mail service. The Carlisle Pier is still heaped with luggage and postal bags. It is expected that the work of removing these will be begun at an early hour this morning.

DULL DAY AT THE NORTH WALL.

A large consignment of fish which had come from Holyhead to the North Wall on Monday night last, and in ordinary circumstances would have gone on by train to the country, was yesterday disposed of rapidly, and in small quantities, to purchasers, who were called upon to pay very modest prices.

Little work was yesterday performed at any of the cross-Channel lines of steamers at the Liffey, nor were the Guinness sea-going vessels or river steam lighters interrupted in their rest. Coal cargoes remained undischarged, and the railway goods yards remained closed.

THE STRIKE IN THE PROVINCES.

THE SITUATION IN BELFAST.

Work again proceeded as usual in Belfast yesterday, and the request for a strike by the Irish Trades Congress was not generally observed. The members of the Union who went on strike on Tuesday at the foreign and deep water docks did not return yesterday morning, and the transport workers employed at the coal quay also left their work in the morning, but no members of the National Union of Dockers have taken an active part in the strike. The shipyards, mills, factories, and other places are working as usual. A meeting of the Belfast branch of the Irish National Union of Vintners', Grocers', and Allied Trades Assistants held on Tuesday night passed a resolution regretting their inability to participate in the all-Ireland strike owing to the short notice. The mails from England reached Belfast viâ Larne and Stranraer, and also by the Fleetwood route, and mails from Belfast will be despatched by the same routes, instead of viâ Kingstown and Holyhead.

DISGRACEFUL INCIDENT IN WATERFORD.

Our Waterford Correspondent says that yesterday large bodies of pickets, armed with sticks, marched through Waterford. All motors were held up at Waterford Bridge and compelled to return, accompanied by a picket, to the City Hall, where permits were dealt with. A number of women and children, with some ex-soldiers, who assembled at the corner of Broad street, hooched the pickets and shouted, "Up, Redmond." The pickets continued pacing up and down for some time, and when reinforcements arrived they charged, and some violent encounters took place. Excitement ran high for a couple of hours. Amongst the incidents of the picketing was the holding up of the weekly meeting of the Board of Guardians. At a meeting on the Mall the announcement was made of the shooting of a policeman in Dublin, and it was received with cheers.

SLIGO EX-SOLDIERS' RESOLUTION.

Over two hundred ex-soldiers, headed by Martin Moffatt, V.C., paraded Sligo yesterday, and were joined by the citizens. At a subsequent meeting a resolution was passed demanding the release of the prisoners, and stating that should the occasion demand their services they were now with the Irish people in their fight.

INCIDENTS IN GALWAY.

At a meeting of the Galway Workers' Council, pickets were appointed to patrol the streets. It was determined to demand the wages from the employers as usual, and to deal in the future with those who refused to pay. There was a general rush for the shops, which were opened for a short period, and the pawn offices were besieged. The police and military were altogether withdrawn from the streets on Tuesday night, and crowds patrolled them in the dark and sang songs and let off "slag-bangs." The Workers' Council compelled countrymen who came to the market and asked 30s. a load for turf to sell it at 14s. a load, and they fixed the quantity of meat and groceries which each householder is to have.

SERIOUS AFFAIR AT ADAVOYLE.

Our Newry Correspondent telegraphs that last evening, between 4 and 5 o'clock, the signal cabin at Adavoyle, on the Great Northern system, was attacked and smashed up by between 40 and 50 strikers. The driver of the 3 o'clock train from Dublin on approaching the station observed men, and, fearing an attempt to hold up the train, accelerated speed and came through safely to Goraghwood Junction, where he reported the occurrence. The news of the release of the hunger-strikers was celebrated by a turn out of the Sinn Fein and Nationalist bands.

FAIR STOPPED AT CARRICK-ON-SHANNON

At Carrick-on-Shannon the pig fair had to be abandoned, sales being forbidden. The American and Sinn Fein flags floated from the Town Hall building. The schools were compelled to close. A bread famine is feared in the town, the bakers having no yeast supplies.

At Ballinamore the rails have been torn up on the Cavan and Leitrim Railway, and an engine was thrown into a bog.

LIMERICK SUPPLIES RUNNING LOW.

The situation was becoming acute in Limerick, all places of business being closed, and food supplies difficult to obtain. The Post Office was guarded by policemen during the day, and the Post Office clerks who remained on duty were greeted at by a crowd when leaving work in the evening.

Telegrams from Tipperary, Newbridge, Monasterevan, Ennis, Wicklow, Claremorris, Boyle, and various other places show that all business was suspended yesterday.

CASTLEBLAYNEY.

There was a complete stoppage of work in Castleblayney yesterday. On Tuesday night the people were warned that no market would be held next day, and that the workmen had been ordered to cease work as a protest against the treatment of the Mountjoy prisoners. Any shops which were opened yesterday morning were closed at the order of pickets, who then went to the outskirts of the town and turned back all traffic intended for the market. Banks, with the exception of the Bank of Ireland, were closed. Farm labourers marched into the town, and made a sympathetic demonstration on behalf of the prisoners. The employés of the Great Northern Railway Company were met on their way to work and asked to join in the protest. Shortly before noon a passenger train arrived from Enniskillen, carrying a number of visitors to the market. Pickets boarded the engine, and induced the driver and fireman to shut off steam. The stationmaster asked permission to have the train allowed to return, and this request was granted. Some passengers, including Mr. Shiels, whose son was on hunger strike in Mountjoy, secured motor cars to convey them to Dublin. Butter, milk, and meat were sold during the day.

THE BURNING OF POLICE BARRACKS.

In connection with the recent burnings of barracks in Clare claims have been lodged for compensation as follows:—Doolin Barrack, £25,000; Castlefergus and Loughraney Barracks, £4,000 each; Ballynacally, Knock, including the dispensary and courthouse, and O'Callaghan's Mills, £5,000 each; Bodyke, Whitegate, Maurice's Mills, Fahorenacre, Ardnacrusha, Bunratty, Carron, Carrahan, Kilmore, O'Gonnollroe, Crusheen, Liscannor, £2,000 each; Lahinch Barrack, £2,500; Kilkishen, £1,800.

The Inland Revenue Commissioners claim £5,000 for books, etc., burned at Miltown-Malbay, and £3,000 for books destroyed at Kilfenora. The total claims already lodged amount to £84,000.

Ahiskeagre Barrack, Co. Roscommon, which was lately vacated, was destroyed on Tuesday night.

The Mullagh R.I.C. barrack was demolished on Sunday night. The roof was completely destroyed. The police vacated the barrack some months ago.

BIG CLAIM ON GALWAY COUNCIL.

The income tax authorities at Galway are claiming £100,000 from the Galway Urban Council as consequential damages for the burning of their papers and books. This amount represents 30s. in the £ on the rates of the township.

EXCITING INCIDENT IN NORTH WALL GOODS YARD.

There was some excitement at the Port last night, when two motor vehicles, containing police and military, were conveyed to the North Wall to the vicinity of the goods yards of the Great Southern and Western Railway Co., where, it was stated, shots had been fired. It appeared that a watchman had detected a man making off with a cheese from the goods stores, and promptly challenged the intruder. The man was stated to have fired two or three shots, presumably from a revolver, but without hitting the watchman. The looter escaped via Lower Sheriff street, and got clear away.

FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE IN ENGLAND.

The Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland are officially informed that an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease was confirmed in England on Tuesday—at Freiteshan, near Norwich. In view of the recurrence of the disease the Department regret that the modification which they contemplated of the embargo on live stock and hay and straw importations must be postponed for the present.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

The market was not held yesterday, but it is expected that business will be resumed to-day (Thursday).

BANK OF IRELAND.

STOCKS COLLAPSE.

OMINOUS ADVANCES IN TREASURY BILL RATES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

An exciting session was experienced in the Stock Exchange yesterday. Following on the improved sentiment of the previous day, when there was a partial rally in prices in several directions, markets opened with a considerable display of strength. Before noon, however, the optimism received a severe shock in the form of an announcement that the rate of discount on Treasury bills had been advanced from 5½ to 6½ p.c. This was interpreted as a sure indication that the bank rate will be raised to-day from 6 to 7 p.c., and immediately there was a sudden change in market conditions. The cheerful and confident tone which had been in strong evidence a short while before gave place to dulness and gloom, some members going so far as to vouch the opinion that an 8 p.c. bank rate is in sight in the near future, even if it is not raised to that figure to-day.

LONDON STOCKS UNCERTAIN.

DEAR MONEY INFLUENCES.

The better tendency developed on the Stock Exchange overnight was not maintained yesterday in the face of the unexpected advance to 6½ p.c. in Treasury bill rates, which it was feared would be followed by a rise in the Bank rate to-day. The opening of markets was quiet and hesitating, without feature, but Gilt-edged issues weakened sharply on the monetary developments, the softness of quotations in this section being accentuated by Budget uncertainty and by the renewal of the war wealth levy inquiry. Among Gilt-edged Securities War Fives flattened ¼ to 87¾. There was a decline of a point to 172½ in Bank of England Stock, and Colonial Loans registered fractional losses where they varied.

FRENCH BONDS ADVANCE.—In the Foreign market French Loans marked a further good advance, and the Fives were finally 1¼ up at 46. The Fours were steady. Continental issues generally showed more hardness, the recovery in the Italian exchange being helpful. Belgian Threes at 47 were a point to the good.

Changes—Rises: Egyptian Unified, 1 to 73; French Loan, 1¼ to 66. Falls: Mexican Fives, 2 to 43; Peruvian Def., 1 to 81; Spanish Fours, 1 to 92½.

HOME RAILS QUIET.—There was not much going on among Home Rails, and the tone was further chilled by the set-back in Gilt-edged Securities. Many Trunk and Trade Stocks left off ¼ to ½ lower.

CANADIANS WEAK AND MEXICANS FLAT.—Canadian Pacific were weaker at 151, and other Canadian Rails were heavy. Grand Trunk Guaranteed Fours losing 1½ at 57, while Junior Stocks were ½ to ¾ weaker. There was a set-back of 1 in Mexican 1st Pref.

CHECK IN INDUSTRIALS.

B.A.T.'S FLUCTUATE—WALLPAPER DEF. EASIER—OIL CAKES ACTIVE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

A very cheerful opening was experienced in the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday. Prices got on the move early, and a steady appreciation of values took place. But a severe check to the initial liveliness was administered by the change in the Treasury bill rate. This was immediately linked up with a probable advance in the Bank rate, which was more or less foreshadowed by the movement. The tone of the market altered, and sellers began to predominate. But towards the close of the day things were better again. The idea appeared to be that the increased rate would tempt the banks to lend more freely, and speculation would consequently tend rather to increase than otherwise. At all events, there is a growing body of opinion in favour of assuming that the banks will be losing good business if they do not lend money at the increased rate they will be able to obtain. B.A.T. fluctuated rather violently. After opening well, the shares dropped back to below the previous day's closing price. Oil Cakes were in strong demand again, to begin with, falling away later, and again making a good recovery at the close of the session. Courtaulds reacted after an initial rise. Wallpaper Def. were in renewed request. Imperial Tobacco "Letters" continued to change hands with freedom. Among Iron and Steel issues, Vickers were easier. Amalgamated Cotton were still depressed on the underwriting of the new issue.

Nothing more having been heard of the projected Gloucester Wagon fusion, the price recorded further to 75s. Movements in the Textile section were not frequent, business showing a shrinkage. In the circumstances, the steadiness of Spinners at 5¾ provided encouragement to holders. Courtaulds, after a good opening, slipped back to 8¾. Amal. Cottons ragged to 1¼, ex all. Joshua Hoyle were firm at 44½. Dunlops slipped back to 10. Business in the Shipping market resulted in a general decline in values under the lead of P. and O. Def., which slipped back another 10 points to 530.

FURTHER RISE IN MINES.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Yesterday morning the political situation looked better, and markets generally were quite buoyant. The activity, however, did not last long. Reports were soon in circulation to the effect that the bank rate would almost certainly be raised to 7 p.c. to-day, and this caused a revulsion of feeling throughout the "house," the speculative departments being as usual the first to feel the effect of the change of sentiment. As regards the other section of the Mining Market, the publication of the excellent March Rand output and labour figures created a good impression, and, coupled with a decided improvement in the French exchange, induced a fair amount of buying, to which prices readily responded. But the rumours of a coming advance in the official minimum, which, it must be admitted, were based on sounder reasoning than many of the preceding reports, checked enthusiasm, and the best prices were not maintained. Still, although the price of gold eased slightly to £5 4s. per ounce, there was no resumption of the offering of gold had previously been the chief characteristic of this market, and, except in a few isolated instances, most of the lower parlance was held to the close. Thus Central Mining, Rand Mines, Randfontein, Van Ryn Deep, Modder Deep, and many other representative shares left off well above Thursday's levels, and the tone generally was quite firm.

RUBBER SHARE MARKET IRREGULAR.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

There were few features in the Rubber share market, and the tone continued much about the same. The Continental group recovered further, and the selling, for the time being at any rate, ceased. Movements in quotations were irregular. Anglo-Dutch were a shade easier at 51s. 3d., and Java Investment lost 9d. at 42s. Batu Kawan, ex div., quoted around 39s. Bekoh improved to 5s. 9d., and Bikam were 2½d. harder at 5s. 4½d. Anglo-Ceylon were ½ harder at 53. but Baru Java and Tanah Datar each lost ⅛ at 2¾ and 2¼ respectively. Bukit Selangor were the turn easier at 5s. 6d., but Bagan Serai and Blagbrook were ⅛ higher at 2½s. 3d. and 38s. 9d. respectively. Hevea Trust hardened to 1¼, while Kuala Lumpur further improved to 2¼ and Semnda to 31s. Java United were dull around 41s. 3d., but Mount Austin rose sharply to 46s. 3d., an improvement of 3s. Sterling Plantations jumped 4 to £3, and Telogoredjo were ¼ firmer at 3¾. Tamiang were dull at 2½, while Ulu Rantau and Selaba each rose ⅛ to 2¼ and 2¾ respectively. In other cases few assuming that the banks will be losing good business if they do not lend money at the increased rate they will be able to obtain. B.A.T. fluctuated rather violently. After opening well, the shares dropped back to below the previous day's closing price. Oil Cakes were in strong demand again, to begin with, falling away later, and again making a good recovery at the close of the session. Courtaulds reacted after an initial rise. Wallpaper Def. were in renewed request. Imperial Tobacco "Letters" continued to change hands with freedom. Among Iron and Steel issues, Vickers were easier. Amalgamated Cotton were still depressed on the underwriting of the new issue.

Nothing more having been heard of the projected Gloucester Wagon fusion, the price recorded further to 75s. Movements in the Textile section were not frequent, business showing a shrinkage. In the circumstances, the steadiness of Spinners at 5¾ provided encouragement to holders. Courtaulds, after a good opening, slipped back to 8¾. Amal. Cottons ragged to 1¼, ex all. Joshua Hoyle were firm at 44½. Dunlops slipped back to 10. Business in the Shipping market resulted in a general decline in values under the lead of P. and O. Def., which slipped back another 10 points to 530.
